

Resume

Lynn Angele Leck

☎ 054-5538378

✉ lynnleck@mail.tau.ac.il

Education

- 2019-present M.Sc. student in Ecology and Environmental Studies, School of Zoology, Tel Aviv University.
Thesis project in Reproduction cycles of Echinoidia. Supervisor: Dr. Omri Bronstein.
- Histopathology experience.
- 2016-2019 B.Sc. in Marine Biology. Ruppin Academic center.
- Advanced courses in Ecology, Molecular Biology, Oceanography and more.
 - Plentiful experience in laboratory work, such as general Chemistry, Microbiology, Molecular Biology and working with preserved specimens.

Professional experience

- 2019-present M.Sc. student in Ecology and Environmental Studies, School of Zoology, Tel Aviv University.
- Work as logistic laboratory assistant.
- 2015 IT technical support and team leader assistant. Binat Semech.
- Provided solutions for variety of hardware and software issues and Cloud services.
- 2012-2014 Desktop support technician. Military service.
- Technical support unit that supports more than 500 clients, up to the highest military ranks.

Volunteer

- 2018-2019 Aquaculture. Mevo'ot Yam youth village, Mikhmoret.
- Volunteered in different projects including building Hydro-systems from recycled materials, aquarium rooms arrangement and water quality examinations.

Certifications

- 2020 R studio basic programming language.
- 2018 Advanced Open water Scuba diver license. PADI certification.
- 2018 QGIS. Advanced course in Marine Biology degree.
- 2014 SharePoint Microsoft. Microsoft certification.
- 2012 C# programing. Microsoft certification – "Hadarim" project.

Languages

Hebrew – Native speaker

English – Fluent (spoken and written)

References

Dr. Omri Bronstein, M.Sc. supervisor: 054-4530236, bronstein@tauex.tau.ac.il.